ABOUT ME

The name is Kevin Rogers. I am a tireless seeker of knowledge, occasional purveyor of wisdom and also, coincidentally, a Front End Web Developer. I am absolutely passionate about what I do and my ability to learn things very quickly is impeccable. I am a huge team player.

OBJECTIVE

My career objective is to obtain a Front End Developer position at an established design firm. To be part of a challenging environment that inspires creativity and group work, allowing me to discover new means to present media and information to a mass audience.

EDUCATION

Bachelors Degree
(Coleman University, San Diego)

March 2015

Currently pursuing my Bachelors Degree in Web Media Design.

Associates Degree
(Coleman University, San Diego)

January 2014

I currently hold an Associates Degree in Web Media Design.

High School Diploma
(Granite Hills High, El Cajon)

June 2006

Graduated with a high school diploma from Granite Hills Highschool in 2006

EXPERIENCE

Pink Star Marketing
(Web Developer/ Graphic Designer)

2014 to Present

Initiate, develop and execute the design of multiple visual communications strategies, including digital screen media, conventional print media, advertising campaigns, web communication, brand identity logos.

US Army NG
(Ammunition Specialist)

2008 to Present

Receive, store, and issue all the explosives used by the Army. Maintain, modify and destroy ordnance, when needed. Control stocks of all ammunition related items including guided missiles and large rockets.
